

Spontaneous Activity in Education by Maria Montessori

Total running time: 11:47:16

Maria Montessori saw that children gained a sense of satisfaction through doing work of their own choosing. She concluded that the role of the adult was to allow this natural ability of the child to flourish through careful design of the environment and through development of freedom within a positive structure. By way of examples of her observations, Montessori details the reasoning behind her methods.

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org. Cover picture by the Government of Italy (1990). Copyright expired in U.S. Cover design by David Purdy. This design is in the public domain.